Violaine Vieillefond

British artist

Born in 1970, lives and works in Paris.

Born from the movement of fluids and the metamorphosis this element implies, Violaine Vieillefond's creations are imbued with an emotional dimension that soothes, overwhelms, or erases. She works on various supports, most often loose canvases, which she always places on the floor. Partially or entirely covered with water, the artist applies colors, and the works emerge from the unpredictable trajectories of the flows. For her, the primordial matter is liquid and is «the matrix in which the initial accident will induce a series of necessities.»

In the Metamorphoses series, shifting red forms spring from the void, plunging us into a feminine and fragile universe, at once organic and floral, uterine and vegetal. The artist takes us inside the body and its cells, as if to the origin of life's movement. Like nature itself, the series developed by the artist almost always span several cycles. In «Colors of Linen,» Violaine Vieillefond explores the changing seasons on original folding screen formats, evoking Japanese screens and their admiration for the beauty of nature. Here, like explosions of color, Spring and Summer unfold under the artist's hand and the movement of fluids.
