André GUIBOUX

French artist.

Born in 1987, he lives and works in the south of France.

A graduate of the Grenoble School of Fine Arts with honors, he has developed a practice that lies at the intersection of image, gesture, and ritual.

He does not create objects; rather, he sculpts gestures, connections, and transitions.

His work explores the invisible: the sacred, thresholds, and memory. Whether through shared gestures (La Pompe à Siel, Journée Internationale des Portes), ritual forms (Processions, Portes, Nadir), or social dimensions (ESAVA, Parler aux anges), he cultivates an ethic of care.

Each project becomes a way of standing firm in the world; fragile yet tenacious, they sustain his life just as much as he sustains them. His work evokes a post-Beuysian spirituality, permeated by a light that emanates from within and from the south.

His works have been exhibited in numerous international contexts: the Milan Biennale for Young Artists, the Sarajevo Winter Festival, Orient'Art in Oujda, The Others in Turin (with the Pauline Pavéc Gallery), as well as at the Frac Centre-Val de Loire.

“To conceive of art as a succession of gestures that anchor us to the world, allowing us to take it on and let it go.

Art as a natural and meaningful tool for society, to liberate perception and rehabilitate the invisible: the sacred and the margins.”
